Innovation lifts the human spirit and produces unprecedented levels of teamwork. Innovation opens people's hearts and minds, and connects them around common aspirations and the potential for new possibilities. Innovation is a team sport. Winning teams distinguish themselves by consistently harnessing the collective creativity and enthusiasm of their members to solve important problems. What better way to galvanize a team than around its passions, insights, and imagination?

This program exposes participants to a discipline of innovation that highlights and reinforces the essentials of value creation and collaboration. A set of proven tools and easy to learn practices allow everyone to innovate effectively --- together! The program is particularly useful for groups looking to get "unstuck" or seeking to achieve new levels of performance and teamwork. It is also a great way to set a forward looking approach when a new leader joins, and engage the team in a new way of collaborating.
